

The University of Chicago's Native American Student Association,
the Office of Multicultural Student Affairs, the Department of Anthropology, and the International House Global Voices Lecture Series present:

“Did American Indians Invent Baseball? Answer: Yes!”

LeAnne Howe

Associate Professor of American Indian Studies and English, University of Illinois- Urbana/Champaign

Choctaw novelist and Associate Professor LeAnne Howe (UICU) will read from her latest novel, Miko Kings, An Indian Baseball Story. She will also talk about the research that went into her bold assertion that. "Indeed, American Indians have been playing baseball hundreds of years before you knew who landed on our shores!"

Thursday, April 3rd, 2008

5:30-6:00 PM – Reception

6:00-7:00 PM - Lecture and Discussion

International House, National Room 1414 E. 59th Street

Funded in part by SGFC

For additional event information contact Antonie Dvorakova advorak@uchicago.edu (NASA) or International House (<http://ihouse.uchicago.edu>): 773-753-2274. Persons with disabilities who may need assistance should contact the Office of Programs & External Relations: 773-753-2274. For NASA info, contact Jonathon MeDrano at jmedra2@uchicago.edu.

